H.W. WILSON FOUNDATION RENEWS SCHOLARSHIP GRANTS WITH COMMITMENT OF $580,000 TO A.L.A. ACCREDITED LIBRARY SCHOOLS

NEW YORK, NY

The Board of Directors of the H.W. Wilson Foundation has announced continuation of its support of education in library and information science with a new round of scholarship grants.

Since 1957, H.W. Wilson has supported U.S. and Canadian library and information science school accredited by the American Library Association. This year's scholarship program, the 14th consecutive, will deliver grants of $10,000 to each of 58 schools, for a total of $580,000. Grants will be distributed over four years (2012-2015.)

Major goals of the program include attracting potential librarians to the field and supporting qualified students. Amy J. Stefany, a student at the University of Arizona, recently noted "a generous grant from the H.W. Wilson Foundation has helped me attain my educational goals, despite difficult economic times."

The program allows each school to distribute its grant in accordance with its own scholarship criteria, as well as to divide the total sum to accommodate a local institution's particular needs. Library school which receive accreditation during any of the program years will receive grants the year following accreditation.
